R. C. RITENOUR WAS WINNER AT COLUMBUS SHOOT

R. C. Ritenour won high honor Wednesday at the Columbus Dispatch Good Time Shoot at the Columbus Gun Club in competition with the leading trap shooters in the state. There were 115 entered in the contest representing the best shots from Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, and the different sections of the state. The contest was a 150 bird shoot off and from the twenty fifth four were tied, Mr. Ritenour being one of them. From that time on the four stood even to the end with 147. It was necessary then for a 25 bird shoot off to settle the tie and Mr. Ritenour won all twenty-five while the other three each dropped one. Mr. Ritenour was presented with a handsome silver medal engraved in honor of the winner as presented by the Dispatch. Mr. Ritenour felt doubly honored in winning the contest in that he defeated Mr. Spangler, Cleveland, who only a few weeks ago was the winner at the State Shoot at Vandavia. At that time Spangler broke 196 and Ritenour 195 out of 200. Mr. Ritenour is one of the leaders in the Cedarville Gun Club that has staged some excellent shoots and attracted many noted sportsmen from all sections of Ohio.

Motion Picture Theatre Opens Saturday Night

The Opera House will be opened Saturday night for motion pictures. Messrs. Gresswell and Lowry have placed the house in first class order and have planned for some excellent pictures.

Patrons of the house can rest assured of good order and courteous treatment to all. It is possible that the gallery will be closed other than for overflow crowds. Among the leading pictures looked for this week is "Ramona," which was shown last week in Springfield at the State Theatre for the first time. There are many other excellent pictures scheduled for the coming weeks.

PROBATE WILL

On application of W. Collins Williamson, the will of S. K. Williamson, late of the village of Cedarville, has been admitted to probate in Probate Court.

A CALENDAR OF OHIO BIRDS BY PROF. ALLEN C. CONGER

Spring is gone and now Summer is here in earnest, as the sun slowly wheels back to the south. The ducks which nested in the marshes by our Ohio lakes "already begun to assume their dull "leopards plumage" and on every hand we may find evidence of the passing of the mating season among birds in general. The more sociable species are now abroad in family groups. Mourning doves, chickadees, titmice, bluebirds and some others seem loath to break family ties so soon, but many species have already scattered, only to collect a little later for their long southern journey.

It is somewhat surprising to find that a species, many of whose members were seen in our weedy fields last winter is just now settling down to family duties. Until now the Goldfinches have led a care-free existence—feasting on the dandelion seeds in our lawn (to which they are thrice welcome) or pouring out their canny-like song from trellises or bounding along over seeming billows of air—now these little rays of sunshine have sobered down to more prosaic tasks. Can it be that they must wait until the thistles and the milkweed of our neglected fields and fence-rows have provided the down with which to line the cups from which young Goldfinches first view this midsummer world.

A bit of discarded snake-skin dangling from the cavity in an old apple tree in a neglected orchard—we may be sure that none of our much-maligned crawling friends left his outworn clothes in such a place. This can be only the work of that big eccentric fellow, the Crested Flycatcher. Many and long have been the arguments as to why a bird should choose so consistently and frequently this peculiar and far from common material for nest adornment. Some there are who maintain that would-be depollers of the nest are kept at a safe distance by a thing so threatening as the tattered snake-skin of a snake skin. This would seem to us to attribute to the nest-builder just a little too much of reasoning power, but we must at least credit to the

Hoover Endorsed At Lima Meeting

Endorsement of Herbert Hoover for president, and the decision to hold the 1928 convention in Dayton were features of the final session of the Ohio Republican Endorsement convention which was concluded at Lima Friday night. Marlowe Kersey, of Dayton, was elected president.

The sentiment of 50,000 members, concerning Hoover's candidacy, was expressed in the following resolution: "We as Ohio Republicans, and citizens next, serve notice that we are now enthusiastically for Hoover as president. We, therefore, call on all Christian people of the state to join with us to vote for president this fall in the name of decency and not to cast ballots for booze."

Township Trustees Form Organization

The township trustees in Ohio have formed a statewide organization to combat a legislative move to abolish not only the office of trustee but local school boards as well. The organization will confine its work to searing the present law for trustees.

It is said that the coming legislature will be asked to abolish the present law in the interest of economy but in as much as certain road material and machinery interests have been backing such a plan, few have any faith in the proposed change.

Joseph Thomas of Haysville, O., was chosen president, William Shepherd of Brown county, vice president, P. P. Daniels, Mt. Sterling, treasurer. A secretary will be chosen later. Mr. M. W. Collins of the local board of trustees attended the meeting.

Tubercular Cases Found In Clinic

Nineteen cases of tuberculosis, active or incipient, were disclosed at the diagnostic chest clinic conducted in Yellow Springs Tuesday and Wednesday under auspices of the state health authorities co-operating. Fifty-two applicants were examined by Dr. E. A. Martin, superintendent of the Clark county tuberculosis hospital; Dr. Grant, assistant superintendent of Stillwater sanatorium, and Dr. H. M. Austin, of the state department of health.

NEWS LETTER FROM STATE DEPARTMENTS

COLUMBUS, O.,—Republicans in attendance at the state convention of their party held in this city the latter part of last week are jubilant over the harmony prevailing during the two days session. Over thirteen hundred delegates were in attendance with possibly double that number of visitors. Leaders demonstrated explicit tact and any factional differences which were predicted, were entirely eliminated. The platform adopted is said to be more than acceptable to the rank and file of Buckeye Republicans, all of whom have indicated that they will buckle on their armor in an effort to restore the Ohio Governorship to the Republican ranks. The three dominant candidates for that honor, Attorney General Edward C. Turner, Hon. Myers V. Cooper and Congressman James T. Begg, addressed the convention in order named and all were given rousing receptions. The pre-primary campaign is now on in full force and headquarters of state candidates will be the mecca for Republican visitors to the Capital City until the close of the primaries on Tuesday, August 14th.

Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown has mailed out several hundred township and municipal rosters during the past couple of weeks. These rosters have proven a valuable asset to those having occasion to use them as they contain the names of all township officials as well as the officers of every municipality in the state. Secretary Brown received another large check this week amounting to $25,000.00 for an increase of capital stock by one of the large corporations of the state.

The Division of Fish and Game under the supervision of Chief D. O. Thompson has just completed the distribution of 4,000 Ring-neck pheasant eggs to farmers and sportsmen throughout the state. Each received from one to five settings of fifteen eggs. It requires twenty-four days for the eggs to hatch and when the baby pheasants reach the age of from four to six weeks, they are liberated and required to "scratch" for themselves. The Ring-neck birds will not live if kept in captivity and multiply in great numbers when given their freedom.

How would you like to furnish and prepare three meals per day for over 4,000 people 365 days each year. That is what Warden Preston E. Thomas of the Ohio Penitentiary is doing and has done for many years. Hundreds of pigs have been butchered the past spring and winter and as a result there has been plenty of roast pork, sausage, head cheese, etc. Then stacks of lettuce, green onions, radishes, carrots, beets, cabbage and fresh milk has appeared on the menus of late, no objections being made to same on the part of the inmates. The pigs and vegetables are products of the prison farms where honest men are sent from the big institution in West Spring Street.

During last month 108 fatalities were reported to the Industrial Commission of Ohio, according to the statement of Superintendent Thomas P. Kearns of the Division of Safety and Hygiene, a gain over the same month last year when 70 were reported. These were from 35 counties, 26 having no fatalities and a number of counties failing to report. A total of 18,907 claims were filed with the Commission last month over 1,000 more than in the same month last year.

Successful bidders on road-letting will be announced in a few days by Harry J. Kirk, State Highway Director, for contracts amounting to approximately $2,000,000.00. These proposed highway improvements cover sixteen counties, the mileage totaling 87.94, the longest stretch, 5.18 miles, being in Columbiana county on what is known as the East Liverpool-East Palestine road. Director Kirk has indicated that he will push all work under contract to a rapid completion so that it may be finished before the cold weather season. There will be two more lettings, July 18 and 27, and every effort will be made to start all projects and endeavor to complete them this year.

WILLIAMSON WILL GIVE INCOME TO WIDOW

By the will of S. K. Williamson the rental income from his 100-acre farm, interest from $4,000 and household goods are left to his widow. A certificate of stock in the Cedarville Farm-ers' Grain company is given to the son, W. C. Williamson. The residue is divided between the sons and daughter, Ernest C. W. C. and Mrs. Ella R. Denbison.

Platform Adopted by Republicans

The following are the high points from the platform adopted Friday at the Republican State Convention in Columbus.

Pledge adherence to the State government of a policy of economy similar to that inaugurated by President Coolidge in national affairs. Condemnatory tactics of the Democrats in failing to provide adequate housing for feeble-minded persons.

Condemn "hot paroles and easy pardons."

Pledge continuation of State aid to weak school districts.

Favor practical and economical programs for eradication of the corn borer and bird-borne tuberculosis.

Favor use of all hunting and fishing license revenues for restocking fish and game preserves and development of sanctuaries.

Favor creation of a fish and game commission.

Favor early abandonment of State road assessments and spreading of such tax burden over greater taxable areas.

Favor "gradual elimination of grade crossing" in the State.

Pledge repeal of laws relating to public utilities, which are inimical to the bests of the public.

Pledge conscientious enforcement of all laws.

Indorse reform and revision of the election laws for simplification and economy.

Favor enactment of air commerce regulations.

Favor restoration of appropriations for maintenance of the State library.

Insurance Firm Sued For Amount

Claiming that the defendant refused to pay a policy for $400 when his automobile was destroyed by fire June 30, 1927, W. B. Warner has brought suit against the Aetna Insurance Co., Hartford, Conn., for a judgment for that amount in Common Pleas Court.

Warner declares that he was insured by the Hartford Company February 11, 1927 and that he fulfilled all conditions of the policy and when it was agreed he should receive a principal of $400 in the event of damage or loss of his Ford coupe by fire, lightning and transportation.

O. L. Darlington is attorney for the plaintiff.

RANGE CATTLE FOR OHIO

The first cattle from range country to come to Ohio feedlots through the national cooperative pool of producers' association were placed in Ohio recently, Greene County Farm Bureau officials report. Ohio's stock men received 500 of a lot of 3500 yearling cattle which were brought from the producing territory by the National Producers' Feeder Pool Association of which E. C. Hector of Pickaway County is president.

The cattle coming to Ohio went to 16 farmers in Fayette, Pickaway, and Scioto counties. Three loads went to Nelson Dunlap of Ross county, father of Renick Dunlap, assistant secretary of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The shipment, coming from Texas, is the first of many similar shipments of cattle and lambs for feeding purposes which will be brought into Ohio this year through cooperative livestock associations of the state.

Will Seek Repeal Of Fence Law

Charles H. Hubbell, Cleveland attorney, who has been working with the Ohio Orange for a repeal of the Fence law, has asked Secretary of State, Clarence Brown, for petitions to initiate a repeal of the law.

More than 75,000 signatures will be required for the petition in the state. Hubbell states that between 300 and 400 persons have already volunteered to work for this campaign.

The proposed repeal will be presented to the legislature and should it be turned down, under the law, the voters can pass on it at the next election.

An effort was made at the last session of the legislature for repeal of the Fence law, but the power of the utility lobby, aided by the Anti-Saloon League, kept the bill from going to a vote. The Fence law took away all authority from municipal and county authorities on utility rates.

APPROVE SALE

Sale of real estate to W. J. Watson for $3,814.34 has been confirmed and distribution of the proceeds ordered in the case of J. E. Sanders, as administrator of the estate of John W. Rose, deceased, against Foster Sanders and others in Common Pleas Court.

MAY BE FIRST LADY

Electing a President's wife is not the least interesting phase of the approaching campaign. This is a recent portrait study of Mrs. Herbert Hoover, whose philosophy of life is of the outdoor variety. Like her husband, she moves quickly, talks quickly, thinks quickly.

Property Owners File Protest

Six hundred and thirty-three citizens of Osborn and Fairfield have signed a petition of file with Greene county commissioners, protesting against the establishment of a new street in Osborn, which was petitioned for several weeks ago by Attorney Morris D. Rice and others.

The proposed thoroughfare would extend from the south end of Central avenue to the intersection of Inter-county highway No. 60 and follow the proposed Dayton and Springfield pike as laid out by the Metropolitan Estates company and the International Development company, which have been plating land in that vicinity.

Protestors declare that the establishment of the road would not be conducive to the public convenience or benefit.

That it would place a burdensome tax on the people of the township or on the property owners and at the same time will exempt to a large extent, because of vacant lots, the main agitators for the road, the International Development company, is charged.

County commissioners allowed a 60-day extension of the date originally set for the hearing on the petition to establish the road, making the date August 27, at 10 o'clock.

COUNTY SURVEYOR DAVIS OPPOSES PROPOSED ROAD

County Surveyor William J. Davis has recommended that county commissioners refuse to grant a petition requesting construction of a new thoroughfare through Osborn, in a report filed with the board of commissioners. More than 800 persons signed a protest against the granting of the petition, alleging that it was being sought for the benefit of a real estate development company.

Theatre Owners Face Charges

James T. Hibbert, Bijou theatre, Henry L. Binder, Orpheum theatre, Xenia, opened their motion picture houses Sunday afternoon and night. Public announcement had been made previously that the houses would open and Xenians would not have to go to Dayton for Sunday shows. Both proprietors claim their places have been operated lately at a low profit due to attendance at Dayton theatres.

The W. C. T. U. and Ministerial Association were responsible for charges being filed in Mayor John Prugh's court Monday. Both proprietors were bound over to the grand jury.

There was a sharp division in sentiment about the county seat Monday over the action of the theatre owners as well as against those who filed the charges. It is claimed that more than a 1000 people go out of Xenia each Sunday for theatres in Dayton.

Both Xenia theatres were crowded Sunday afternoon and night according to reports.

Pleads Guilty To Liquor Charge

Charles Smith, colored, has entered a plea of guilty in Probate Court and has been fined $100 and costs by Judge S. C. Wright.

WILL BE OPEN SATURDAYS

County Treasurer Helen Dadds announces that her office will be open on the following Saturday, July 7 and 14 to accommodate those wishing to pay taxes. As a rule the office is closed each Saturday but Miss Dadds will be open these two days to accommodate the public.

MADONNA OF TRAIL UNVEILED WEDNESDAY

Mothers, those pioneer mothers, who rode through Ohio when the state was a wilderness, were honored July 4th when the monument "The Madonna of the Trail" was unveiled.

The memorial figure is standing on the Masonic grounds west of Springfield. It represents a pioneer mother clad in homespun, clasping a baby in her arms while another child clings to her skirts.

The monument was the gift of the National D. A. R. and the National Old Trails association. It was designed by August Lienbach, St. Louis.

General J. Warren Keifer pulled the cord revealing the statue. John B. McGrew accepted the statue in behalf of Clark County. Judge D. D. Woodmense of Cincinnati was the principal speaker. Mrs. John Trigg, St. Louis, representing the D. A. R., presented the statue. There were many notables present representing the D. A. R. and the Masonic organization.

The statue marks the spot approximately where the National pike as constructed by the national government ended and also is in reasonably close distance to the site of the birth of Tecumseh and the battlefield of Piqua where the Shawnee power was broken by George Rogers Clark, August 8, 1780.

A number of local people from this section attended the unveiling of the statue.

Mrs. Lida Keck Wiggins has written a poem in tribute to Miss Carrie M. Zimmerman, chairman of Old Trails Committee, Legonda Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

THE MADONNA OF THE TRAIL

A symbol she of womanhood, Which in our nation's early day, Besides its men, undaunted stood, And for our future blazed the way, Her garments are of homespun weave; Her feet rough shod for strain and stress, One arm supports an infant's form, A little lad clings to her dress.

Upon her head a bonnet small, With silken strings is neatly tied; Yet, grasped with fingers sinewy Is carved a musket by her side. Her face combines most wondrously Grim courage and sweet mother-love; Her tight-closed lips show iron will; Her eyes are turned to things above.

A rugged beauty hers like that, Of mountains towering toward the blue, Yet clothed with tender green of trees, And fragile flowers of lovely hue.

Heroic, glorious there she stands, Besides that road which in her day Was broken by the wagon wheels, Which ever upward took their way.

While they, the grand old pioneers, Who marked the trail for you and me, Were clearing forests, planting seeds, And hunting game their food to be, The loyal women labored too, At home, with souls sublimely good, To cook the food, to weave, to brew, And to conserve the motherhood.

So we who live beside the way Which, like a bond of tempered steel, Has held together east and west, Through days of sorrow and of weal, Now place an image far aloft, That never passerby shall fail To see; to honor and to love The great Madonna of the Trail.

WE MAY HAVE TO LEARN TO WALK

At the rate the American public insists on riding we may as a nation be compelled to learn to walk in another ten years. The ratio of automobiles in this country to population is very low, five to one. We learn now that the ratio for the world is one to every 64 persons. Two years ago it was 66 persons. With the United States out of it there would be only one car for each 277 people.

The American people have been educated to ride and walking will soon be a lost art.

WHERE TO START TO REDUCE CRIME

More than two years has been spent in completing the first compilation ever made of existing state criminal laws governing arrests, preliminary examination, bail, methods of prosecution, grand jury procedure and indictment, by Dean William E. Mikel and Professor Edwin R. Keedy, of the University of Pennsylvania Law School.

It is revealed that state laws relating to indictment probably are more diverse, more responsible for miscarriage of justice and more generally in need of reform than any other single group of laws governing procedure in criminal cases. The compilation illustrates strikingly the multiplicity of criminal laws in the various states and emphasizes the necessity for a uniform code.

Attention is again focused by this work on the fact that simplification and clarification of the law and elimination of technicalities in criminal procedure are objectives that must be attained, before delays incident to criminal procedure can be reduced to a minimum and justice expedited.

WE CAN TALK ABOUT THE WEATHER

There is an oft repeated statement that when we can find nothing else to discuss we can talk about the weather. The month of June this year has been so unusual, one really wonders about the lines of the poet, "What is so rare as a day in June?"

Locally we had rain 26 of the thirty days and many of them decidedly cool for a summer month. Fire at night time was a common thing in most homes.

One writer discussing the weather says we entered the month with a deficiency of 2.94 inches. The normal rainfall is 3.98 inches according to government reports. The rainfall for the month is given as 8.80 inches, only 1.06 inches below the previous high record of 9.86 inches in 1880. The latter record practically covered a period of eleven days. This year the rain was spread out over the entire month.

July came in much warmer and we are hoping for a more favorable month. Crops were put in early this spring, but to date we are at least two or three weeks late. What little wheat there is will not be cut until after the fifteenth of the month, according to present predictions.

TEST ON PROHIBITION IS PREDICTED

There are many friends of prohibition that feel the coming election will be a test vote on public sentiment, following Candidate Smith's open statement after the Democratic convention last week.

To some extent this may be true. Some of the Eastern states will endeavor to make this issue eclipse all others that usually are up in a presidential campaign.

The manner in which the farm relief problem was handled in congress no doubt gave the foes of prohibition encouragement and expect a large number of dry farmer Republicans to leave the ticket. We look for no great landslide from the Republican dry sections.

Prohibition was put into the constitution not by the sole effort of either political party. Public sentiment demanded it and the parties responded. Neither of the parties will openly espouse a change even though a party leader here and there might advocate modification. To change the constitution will require the united effort of the parties; and this cannot be hoped for at this time.

The only danger prohibition faces at present is from the League for Modification of the Volstead Act. This organization is supported by some very prominent men that represent railroads, great industrial enterprises, banking interests. Such men as these that have hundreds of thousands of employees can create more sentiment for modification than either of the dominant political parties.

SAYINGS OF HERBERT HOOVER

Words without action are the assassins of idealism.

We may count food in calories, but we have no way to measure human misery.

If democracy is to survive throughout the world, it must be a success in the United States.

Socialism is a European theory of despair.

The elimination of waste is a total asset. It has no liabilities.

The greatest governmental experiment in human history was universal free education at public expense—and it has been successful.

It is always the children who are ground in the mills of international disputes, and honest charity inquiries no further than that.

The most potent force in society is its ideals. But for the next several generations we dare not abandon self-interest as a motive force to leadership and to production, lest we die.

Fourth Of July Quit Day Here

There was no unusual excitement or celebration of the Fourth here Wednesday. Scores of families were out of town visiting or sightseeing. Many families enjoyed picnics at Clifton and Bryan Park.

One feature of the day was not a single accident has thus far been reported from fireworks during the evening or by motor cars.

Hundreds of motor cars passed through here during the day.

Summer Health Talks

Year after year, the Glorious Fourth used to leave a trail of small, new graves across the country. Tetanus, the dreaded lock-jaw, made its appearance along the middle of July just as surely as toy pistols firing blank cartridges or dynamite "cans" banged on the Fourth. With the establishment of a saner, if tamer, Independence Day, that danger has lessened.

The tetanus germ is quite common, especially in garden soil. However, it can multiply only when it is deprived of oxygen. These are the reasons a barefoot youngster so often develops tetanus after he has run a nail into his foot. The nail which has been lying on the ground has become infected, and the nature of the wound shuts out air.

Every wound which excludes air ought to be opened. If a physician can be reached he should open it. If a physician cannot be secured, it should be opened anyway with a knife which has been boiled.

An infected wound should always be treated by a doctor. He will probably open it widely, clean out all loose shreds of tissue, treat with a three per cent solution of iodine or other disinfectant, and give about 1500 units of tetanus antitoxin. If the wound does not heal within a week another dose of the anti-toxin should be given.

The incubation period of tetanus is between 6 and 14 days—usually 9 or 10 days. Through its effect upon the nerves tetanus produces a muscular spasm and the jaw muscles, among others, become fixed. If that were all, the patient could be fed through his nose, but the poison spreads, and in about half of all cases convulsions, exhaustion, and death result.

Once tetanus has developed the treatment consists in large doses of tetanus anti-toxin. Application of local antiseptics is useless. Proper treatment of infected wounds will practically always prevent tetanus. If the disease does develop the patient should be placed under a doctor's care immediately. A few hours may mean the difference between life and death.

MEN TOGETHER

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

MEN on thrones and
Men in ditches,
Men in robes and
Men in britches,
Rich and poor and
Which and whether,
Men, we all are
Men together.

Men on thrones will
Fire of ruling,
Wise men weary
Of their schooling,
Men who do not
Share life's weather
Men who are not
Men together.

Men on thrones must
Love their brothers,
Men with wealth must
Share with others;
All God creates,
Think, is whether
Men like us are
Men together.

Men on thrones will
Find more pleasure,
Men who dig will
Find more treasure,
Men not marked by
Fez or feather
Men who just are
Men together.

European Trip Is Described

Well here we are in the land of William Tell with snow capped mountain peaks all about us and our room is nice and chilly. It surely is a great change after Naples where we were very warm. I think I wrote last, just the day before we were going up Vesuvius a week ago. We went to Pompeii in the morning and almost walked our feet off over the old cobbles streets, finding it most interesting.

Pompeii itself has furnished more light on the way the Romans lived than anything else in history, so who should say that the destruction of the city was in vain? Out of the 20,000 inhabitants only about 2000 perished and they were the ones who went back for treasures. All of them were warned in plenty of time to escape. Some of the bodies were left just as they fell and they invariably had vessels filled with coins and jewels in their hands. The really valuable finds are all in the Naples museum and the houses and streets are just as they were. It is called the "Dead City" yet it seemed very much alive; the spirit of the place brooded over it and seemed almost to speak to you.

To go from Pompeii, the work of man to the crater of Vesuvius, nature indomitable, destroying man and his works at will, was very impressive. I had no idea I could be so impressed. In the first place going up is amazing, with all the Naples Bay coast spread out below you, ending up with a funicular at a 55 degree angle, which made half the people feel groggy by the time they reached the top. Most of the railway is through lava flows, which look formidable even in their hardened form. How horrible they must be when hot and moving relentlessly down upon you! The volcano itself does a roar and belch of fire every few minutes, throwing out red hot lava and rocks and clouds of light sulphur tinted smoke. We watched it, fascinated, and were very reluctant to leave when the time for our descent came. The crater you see in the pictures is the old 79 A. D. crater which is 3 miles around. That eruption must have been a marvelous sight. I don't wonder that Pliny the elder was so fascinated by it that he ventured too close and was overcome by the gases, and so perished, all because of his keen scientific spirit. The 79 A. D. crater crusted over inside, with a few live hot-holes until the 1906 eruption when this new smaller crater was shown up. It is as high as the 79 A. D. crater but only about one twentieth as large. But even so it looks quite formidable enough. We were 3000 feet above sea level and ordinarily at that height you are cold. But the lava ground was so warm that your feet were hot and the air all around was so warm that you wished you hadn't bothered with a sweater.

Bat's Peculiar Cry

The bat's cry is perhaps the shrillest sound that human ears can appreciate. Most people over forty lose the power of hearing this creature's cry, for it is too high-pitched for any but the keenest hearing.

"Sharp Shooters." With George O'Brien and Lois Moran Will Please Local Audience

Fox Films "Sharp Shooters," which plays Saturday night at the Opera House, is one of the most colorful pictures that film fans have seen in a long time. The cast is headed by two such able stars as George O'Brien and Lois Moran, who add new laurels to their already long list by their work in this picture.

This picture has as its ingredients every known element to please any fan, no matter how discriminating. Every scene is full of action. Romance, comedy, pathos and thrills are prevalent throughout the picture. J. G. Blystone has done an outstanding bit of direction.

The plot of the story revolves around a little French girl from Morocco and an American mob. From Morocco the story moves to the New York East Side, where the girl follows the sailor. There she falls into the clutches of a notorious bootleg king and it is then that George realizes his love. In a smash-up climax, George leads a gang of his buddies to the dive and cleans up the entire outfit.

William Demarest gives a commendable performance as the bootlegger and Nancy Carroll is equally as fine as the East Side girl. Some splendid comedy is done by Tom Dugan and Noah Young as the sailor buddies of O'Brien.

"Sharp Shooters" is an original story by Randall H. Faye, and Marion Orth wrote the scenario. Some unusual photographic effects in the Moroccan and East Side sequences have been obtained by cameraman Charles Clarke. The fact that George O'Brien served in the Pacific fleet during the World War makes his part in this picture all the more alluring, for in every sequence he is thoroughly at home.

The most sought-for cuts of beef are all included in less than 18 per cent of the total carcass.

"The only way to make a coup action out of one man's conduct is to observe him over a long period of time. His average may be guessed at. But nobody can say how he will act in a new and unusual circumstance."—Harvey Wickham.

RELIEF FROM CURSE

OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says,

"Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderly at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store. For sale at Prout & Brown Drug Store.

Farm Officials Given Invitation To Visit Ohio

Officials of the American Institute of Cooperation will be given an invitation to hold its 1929 sessions on the campus of Ohio State University, according to word received by the Greene County Farm Bureau from I. B. Palmer, president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation and vice president of the Institute. Sessions this year will be held at the University of California beginning July 9 and lasting four weeks. The proposal to secure the institute for Ohio next year will be backed by farm organizations of the state and University officials.

HEIFER CALF BRINGS $320

One of the largest Jersey sales of the season was held Monday at the Breezy Lawn Jersey farm three miles east of Springfield on the Tuttle rd. The farm is owned by B. I. and A. R. Tuttle.

Twenty-seven head of cattle were auctioned off at the sale for a total of $5,070, an average price of $190 per head. The best seller at the sale was a heifer calf, eight weeks old, which brought $320. This calf is a daughter of Tiddleywink's Muna, a medal of merit cow with a record of 1035 pounds of butter fat. She has a full sister which made her silver medal on her first test and on second test at three years of age, she produced sufficient fat for a medal of merit.

The Tuttle Jersey herd is recognized as one of the best bred in the country. It is boasted that no other herd in the country has nine daughters of the famous Tiddleywink's Raleigh, the youngest gold, silver and medal of merit sire.

The younger stock was sold at the sale and the older breeding stock kept for breeding purposes. The nine daughters of Tiddleywink's Raleigh were retained in the Tuttle flock. One of these cows has a medal of merit record, four have silver medal records and the four others have good register of merit records.

Alleged Corn Thieves Arrested In Fayette County

Fred Marchant, 31, near the Fayette-Greene county line, Harry Mason, of near Oeta, and Roy Shaw, who lives in a car near Jeffersonville, were taken into custody by Deputy Sheriff Whitmer and were charged with stealing $12 worth of corn from Omar Seibert, of Jefferson township, says the Washington C. H. Record Republican.

Marchant, who has been employed by Glenn Tobia, of the Jamestown pike, was arrested Tuesday afternoon and implicated the other two men in the thefts.

Seibert, it seems, had missed corn from his crib, and had found where it had been hidden along a hedge fence. A watch was kept for several days and it was beginning to look as if nothing would be learned in that way when Deputy Sheriff Whitmer, while in the community Tuesday afternoon saw Marchant with the corn in his possession.

The men are in the county jail until given a hearing. —Madison Press.

Salad Haters May Want Big Helpings

Skimpy Servings Look Like An Insult—"Put It On The Table In Bowl," Says Specialist

Men who turn up their noses at salad might change their ideas if a salad "helping" were man size. That is the opinion of Miss Lella Agle, nutrition specialist in the extension service of the Ohio State University. In Miss Agle's office, a man visitor recently denounced the average "gentle" helping of salad as nothing more nor less than an insult in quantity.

"Nothing wrong with putting on the salad in a big bowl and inviting people to have second helpings," said Miss Agle. "The average bread and butter plate on which salad is served is too small."

"Another reason why men sometimes don't eat salad is that they are suspicious of it, because they don't know what's in it. The way to get around that is not to mix it too much. The various ingredients may be arranged in layers, with the dressing dotted around over them. Or they may be mixed just enough to distribute the dressing over them. That way, the eater of the salad knows just what he is eating, there is no mystery about it."

"Salad-haters can be converted if the salads are mixed this way and served in generous helpings."

On January 1, 1928, there were 2,637,000 sheep on Ohio farms, representing a total farm value of $19,361,000, according to the state department of agriculture.

It's hard to believe that a full grown chigger is harmless; but the United States Department of Agriculture says the picnic-applier is the first or larval stage of a large red velvet mite which is entirely harmless when mature.

LEGAL NOTICE
Two copies of the tax budget as tentatively adopted by the Board of Education of Cedarville Township, Greene County, Ohio, are on file in the office of the Clerk of said School District. These are for public inspection. A public hearing on said budget will be held at the Township Clerk's office in said township on Tuesday, July 10, 1928, at 10 o'clock A. M. Former Detective Is Seeking $50,000 Damage

J. W. Matthews, Delaware, Columbus, and formerly a dry detective in this county, of recent years connected with the federal dry forces and a close friend of the late Senator Willis, has brought suit for $50,000, against William H. Walker, former prohibition administrator for Ohio, Charles Urbit, federal dry agent, Roy W. Shaffer, federal prohibition agent, and Walter R. Fogg, state dry agent.

Following a shooting case in the Columbus city building some months ago and continued liquor parties by highups in the city, Matthews was charged with conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws.
